HONGKONG, DECEMBER 28TH, 1878.

This Colony forms no exception to the rule of the demoralising influence of long continued peace and immunity from danger and alarm. We have, like the Chinese, begun to regard fire rather with favour than with fear; and, whilst warming ourselves beneathits influence, we have almost learned to regard. this Deity as the dispenser of substantial annual dividends rather than as a dread demon against whom we have to be ever on our guard. We have been ragain awakened rudely from our fascination to find that fire in this place is one of our most formidable. foes, and that Houghong can never be considered safe until such means of instant intelligence from every part of every street to the centre are provided as shall render it an impossibility for any fire to apread beyond the four walls within which it shall be first discovered. This is the conviction which was forced upon the inhabitants of San Francisco whon, after the city had been three times destroyed and cellars were found no longer of service for the protection of valuablesion account of the floods of water poured all. They have acted upon this resolution with immense success and we must do the

" Mr. SHARP very truly defines the printings, the liability, and the duty of Fir Insurance Companies to be the receipt promis, the payment of losses, and the prevention of fire. The duty, however, is simply one as between a company and its insurers, and does not necessarily embrace the extinction of fires possibly at a distance from HANKOW and Messrs. Hall & Holtz and Kelly risks in which it may be concorned. This dirty, therefore, is a government or municipal one, as every person in the Colony, even the poorest, is interested in the preservation of a home, and the cost of a thoroughly efficient Brigade should come out of the public rates. The change which is taking place in the substitution of more lofty buildings for those hitherto in use is a very important matter. The simple addition of a third storey is hardly a fair description of the change, which amounts, in most cases, to a doubling of the beight of the buildings, many of which were originally extremely low. This, of course greatly increases the difficulty of escape; and it is probable that, owing to the heavy-sleeping, apathetic character of the Chinese, some future fire may be attended with a grievous loss of life. The increased elevation of the buildings also involves the necessity of increased power of the fire engines. It was truly most nitiable to observe on Wednesday.

In connection with the means for preventing fires, which we consider of primary and paramount importance, we have pleasure in property is entrusted with the key, a direction drawing attention to a letter in another column from Mr. GRANVILLE SHARP uponthe subject of telegraphic means of communicating intelligence of the first discovery of a fire, as witnessed by the writer in San Francisco. Next in importance comes the organization of the Brigade for fire extinction: In this particular the Colony from its earliest to number 32 on the register at the Contra days has been terribly deficient, and unfor tunately the experience of Christmas, 1878, forms no exception to the rule. There is no want of sufficient material Volunteers naval, military, and civilian-abound, Elitor, not for publication, but as evidence of good animated by a chivalrous intention to render This, however, is all unavailing, and often pause of thirty seconds, ..... again. worse than uscless, by the want of one supreme presiding and directing head. Any individual in this list was quite capable of distinguishing himself on Wednesday night, and we feel certain that each one did his best under the circumstances, but how much better all things would have worked if it had been fully settled beforehand who was really chief in command. We venture to assert, without fear of contradiction, that for dealing with a fire the Fire Brigade alone should be resconsible and that for the time being and for all purposes in any way connected with the fire and the work of its extinction, and the providing for the safety of property its neighbourhood, the chief of the Brigade should be clothed with

If the present constitution-of the Brigade is not considered in accordance with such exigency, then let it upon the buildings, it was gravely resolved be changed, and elevated into an institution that they would have no more great fires at which shall be capable of sustaining the grave and serious responsibilities which belong to it. Hongkoog, 27th December, 1878. P. S.—The following are the particulars of the system of giving alarm adopted in San Francisco which were funished to me when passing through that city a few years ago by Mr. S. D. Field, brother of Cyrus Field, of the Atlantic Telegraph The system comprises one Central Office, six Rell Towers, seventy Signal Stations, sixteen Gong's, and forty miles of House-top Totograph Wire. Of this wire about 25 miles belong to the signal circuits, on which an alirm is conveye o the Central Office: the remainder compose the clarm circuits, and it is over these wires that the impulses of electricity producing blows upon the gongs and bells are transmitted. The 16 gongs are located in the various engine and hose houses. The six alarm bell towers are so placed that their sound can be heard throughout the City. The 70 signal stations are so arranged that one of them can be reached in any direction within two hundred yards. A station consists simply of a cottage-shaped cast-irou box connected with the Central Station by two wires threaded through gas pipes, and fastened securely to the building on which the "station" is fixed A responsible tenant of this or the adjoining on the box indicating where he may be found. Keys are also furnished to citizens on application and to the Police and officers of the Fire Brigade. The Station keys are duplicated so that any one will open all locks. Supposing that a fire breaks out in the neighbourhood of California and Drammond streets a policeman, or some other, spous the box and turns rapidly the little crank handle which it contains; thus, in a moment, calling attention Office. This is taken as svidence by the operator on duty that a fire has broken out. He then, by a simple piece of mochanism called a repeater. causes three separate impulses of electricity to pass out over the alarm wires connected with every bell and gon; in the system, producing all one blow for each impulse. He passes for five senting the blows by dots, signal 32 must appear The Brigade are furnished with pocket cards containing the numbers of the station boxes, and It frequently happens that the alarm through-

No inconvenience is found to result from crowd: ing caused by this extreme publicity, very many persons being indifferent to the attractions of a fire, upon ascertaining that it is at a distance and knowing its precise locality.

The staff employed consists of-1 Superintendent, walary ..... 9 Operators, at $400 each

The cost of all-repairs including extension additional signal stations as the city increases, stations, bells, &c., does not exceed $3,000 yearly. making a total annual expenditure of $9,600. The cost of apparatus (exclusive of patent might) was as follows From his a deduction of 50 per cent, might be made upon all instruments nanufactured in England, these being the prices of the best possible apparatus made in San Francisco. In all probability a very great reduction upon these prices could now be secured, especially as above half of that prevalling at San Francisco. Morester, the very limited area of this place would likely reduce the cost to one fourth of the
